This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. EXPLANATIONS.

AUTHORS.

Books are entered in the following catalogue under the names of authors, when known; — under the initials of the authors' names, when these only appear, the last initial being put first; — under the pseudonyms of the writers, when the real names are not ascertained; — under the names of editors of collections; — under the names of countries, cities, societies, or other bodies which are responsible for their publication. If no such name appears they are entered under the first word of the title not an article or a preposition; but an anonymous work relating to a person, city, or subject is put under the name of the person, city, or subject.

In the headings of titles, the names of authors are given in their vernacular form. French surnames preceded by Le, La, or L', are entered under L; by Du or Des, under D; by de or d', under the name following this prefix. In English names, the prefix is treated as a component part of the surname, as in De Quincey, Van Lennep. In all other languages, surnames are entered under the name following the prefix. Foreign compound surnames are entered under the first part of the name. British noblemen and ecclesiastical dignitaries are entered under their family names; all other noblemen, under their titles.

In headings the German diphthongs ä, ö, ü, are written ae, oe, ue; Goethe, for example, occurs in alphabetical order before Goldsmith, not after it.

A single dash indicates the omission of the preceding heading; a subsequent dash the omission of a subordinate heading. Brackets inclose words added to titles or changed in form.

SUBJECTS.

Works are entered under the most specific subject; a book on the dog, for instance, will be found under Dog, not under Zoology; one on iron, under Iron, not under Metals. But it must be remembered that there are often important, and sometimes the best, treatises on special subjects in general works. He who wants to see all that the Library contains on Aragon must of course consult the works enumerated under Spain as well as those under Aragon. Cross references have not in general been made from these specific subjects to general ones; as the inquirer can usually see without difficulty what the including subject would be; on the other hand, references have been made very freely from general subjects to the various subordinate headings to be found in the Catalogue; as well as to co-ordinate and to illustrative subjects. See, for examples, the references at the end of Agriculture (p. 32); Architecture (p. 129); Bibliography (p. 249, 1st col.). Books containing works by several authors, or several works by the same author, or works on several subjects collected under a title which does not sufficiently describe them, have a list of their contents given under the author's name. For economy of room this is not usually repeated with the subject-entry; thus, under Arts (p. 146, 2d col.), to ascertain what "opere" Baldinucci has written about art one must turn to the main entry under Baldinucci (p. 191).

TYPE.

The heavy type is used for the main alphabet of authors, subjects, and titles; — to distinguish the authors in the enumeration of the contents of collections (see, for example, page 67, etc.); — and, in references, to call attention to the word referred to, as "Birds. See Ornithology"; or "Bancroft, G. Character of Franklin. (In Boston book, 3d col.)"

The SMALL CAPITALS are used in the secondary alphabet for the authors who write about any subject, as, under Architecture, Alberti, Aldrich, Ashpitel, Atkinson; so, under Cromwell, Oliver, the first titles are Cromwell's own works, the titles beginning Account, Animadversions, Banks, Bethel, Brief, Carlyle, etc., are of works about Cromwell. Often a short sketch is briefly noted in this way, merely the name of the subject, of the author, and some indication where the sketch is, being given; as, "Crespet, Pierre. Niceron, J. P. (In his Mém., v. 29. 1724)", which means that there is a life of Crespet by Niceron in the 29th volume of Niceron's Mémoires.

The smaller type is used for notes, contents, references; also for the titles of pamphlets contained in five series of pamphlet-volumes (marked A 1, A 2, A 3, B 1, B 2, etc.), which cannot be taken out of the library.

ABBREVIATIONS.

Contents. Vol. 1. Rules. — Officers. — Members. — Rittenhouse, D. Description of an orrery, executed on a new plan; — Calculation of the transit of Venus, June 3, 1769, in lat. 40° N., long., 5h W. from Greenwich. — Ewing, J. Calculation of the same for the city of Philadelphia, and account of the transit of Mercury, Nov. 9. — Smith, W. Transit of Venus as observed at Norriton, in Pennsylvania. — Biddle, O. Transit of Venus, June 3, 1769, as observed near Cape Henlopen, on Delaware. — West, B. Transit of Venus, June 3, 1769, as observed at Providence, New England. — Maskelyne, N. Obs. of the transit of Venus and eclipse of the sun, June 3, 1769, made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich; — Letter to W. Smith, giving some account of the Hudson's Bay and other northern observations of the transit of Venus, June 3, 1769. — Bradley, J. Transit of Venus and eclipse of the sun, as observed at the Lizard Point, June 3, 1769. — Smith, W. Terrestrial measurement between the Observatories of Norriton and Philadelphia. — Smith, W., and others. Apparent time of the contacts of the limbs of the sun and Venus; with other circumstances of most note in the different European observations of the transit, June 3, 1769. — Ewing, J. Improvement in the construction of Godfrey's, commonly called Hadley's, quadrant. — Williamson, H. Essay on comets, and an account of their luminous appearance; with some conjectures concerning the origin of heat. — Rittenhouse, D. Observations on the comet of June and July, 1770; with the elements of its motion, and the trajectory of its path. — Alexander, W., Earl of Stirling. Account of the same comet. — Rittenhouse, D. Easy method of deducing the time of the sun's passing the meridian per clock, without the help of the equation tables, by equal altitudes taken on two succeeding days. — Smith, W. Transit of Mercury, Nov. 9, as observed at Norriton, Penn.; — Sun's parallax deduced from a comparison of the Norriton observations of the transit of Venus, 1769, with the Greenwich and other European observations. — Antill, E. Cultivation of the vine, and the making and preserving of wine, suited to the different climates of North Amer.; — Method of curing figs, and the raising and dressing of hemp. — Carter, L. Observations concerning the fly-weevil, with some useful discoveries and conclusions, concerning the propagation and progress of that pernicious insect, and the methods to be used for preventing the destruction of the grain by it. — Committee of Husbandry. Observations on the same subject. — Bartram, M. Observations on the native silk worms of North America. — Bartram, I. Memoir on the distillation of persimons. — Otto, —. Account of an oil made from the seeds of the sun-flower. — Morgan, J. Essay on the expressing of oil from the sun-flower seed. — Morel, J. Letter on the expressing of a fine oil from bene seed. — Hollingsworth, H. Method of destroying wild garlic — Miller, P. Method of preserving pease from the worms. — Nicola, L. Easy method of preserving subjects in spirits. — Letter from Bethlehem, on making currant wine. — Lorimer, J. Letter containing some remarks on the climate, etc., of W. Florida. — Ellis, J. Catalogue of such foreign plants as are worthy of being encouraged in the American colonies, for the purposes of medicine, agriculture, and commerce; — Directions for putting up seeds and plants, so as to preserve them in a state of vegetation, for being transported to different countries. — Williamson, H. Attempt to account for the change of climate, which has been observed in the middle colonies in North America. — Account of the eruption of Mount Vesuvius, in 1767. — Henry, W. Description of a self-moving or sentinel register. — Wells, R. Machine for pumping vessels at sea without the labor of men. — Lukens, J., and others. Abstract of sundry papers and proposals for improving the inland navigation of Pennsylvania and Maryland, by opening communication between the tide-waters of Delaware and Chesapeak-Bay, with a map. — O—, B. Description of a machine for cutting files. — De Normandie, J. Analysis of the chalybeate waters of Bristol, in Pennsylvania. — Gloster, A. Remarkable case of a tetanos and locked jaw cured by amazing quantities of opium. — Rush, B. Effects of the stramonium, or thorn apple. — Bard, S. Nature, cause, and cure of the angina suffocativa, or sore throat. — An aurora borealis, Lancaster, Penn. — Gilpin, T. Horizontal wind-mill. — Jones, J. New species of grape vines, at Indian River, Worcester Co., Md.

2. Franklin, B. Letter on the causes and cure of smokey chimneys. — Rittenhouse, D. Explanation of an optical deception. — Belknap, J. Description of the White Mountains in N. H. — Hutchins, T. Description of a remarkable rock and cascade, near the western side of the Youghiogeny River. — Franklin, B. Letter proposing a slowly sensible hygrometer for certain purposes; — Description of a new stove for burning of pit-coal, and consuming all it's smoke. — Oliver, A. A theory of lightning and thunder storms; — Theory of water-spouts. — Williams, S. Experiments on evaporation, and meteorological observations made at Bradfield. — Madison, J. Letter, containing meteorological observations. — Hopkinson, F. Description of a machine for measuring a ship's way thro' the sea. — Bryant, W. Account of an electrical eel, or the torpedo of Surinam. — Flagg, H. C. Observations on the numb fish, or torporific eel. — Page, J., and Rittenhouse, D. Letters concerning a remarkable meteor seen in Virginia and Pennsylvania. — Miller, P. Description of the grotto at Swatara. — Rittenhouse, D. Account of some experiments on magnetism; — New method of placing a meridian mark; — Observations on a comet lately discovered. — Hopkinson, F. Account of a worm in a horse's eye; — An improved method of quilling a harpsichord. — Belknap, J. Observations on the aurora borealis; — Letter on the preserving of parsnips by drying. — Madison, J. Letter cont. experiments and observations upon what are commonly called the Sweet Springs. — An optical problem, proposed by Hopkinson, and solved by Rittenhouse. — Rush, B. An enquiry into the cause of the increase of bilious and intermitting fevers in Penn., with hints for preventing them; — An account of the late Dr. H. Martin's cancer powder, with brief observations on cancers; — Observations on the cause and cure of the tetanus. — Mayer, C. Observationes astronomicæ. — Rushton, T. Letter concerning chimneys. — Gilpin, J. Observations on the annual passage of herrings. — Grauchain, M. de. Observations on a solar and lunar eclipse. — Williams, S. Account of the transit of Venus, June, 1769, as observed at Newbury, Mass. — Patterson, R. An easy and accurate method of finding a true meridian line, and thence the variation of the compass. — Rittenhouse, D. Astronomical observations. — Otto, —. Letter, with a memoir on the discovery of America. — Wright, W. The antiseptic virtues of vegetable acid and marine salt combined, in various disorders accompanied with putridity. — Medical history of the cortex ruber, or red bark. — Franklin, B. Letter containing sundry maritime observations. — Aboville, — d'. Account of two hearts found in one partridge. — Perkins, J. Conjectures concerning wind and water spouts, tornados and hurricanes. — Hare, —, and Skinner, —. The whole process of the silkworm, from the egg to the cocon. — Morgan, J. The art of making anatomical preparations by corrosion; — A living snake in a living horse's eye, and other unusual productions of animals. — Morgan, J. Some account of a motley coloured, or pyed negro girl and mulatto boy, exhibited before the Soc., May, 1784. — Romans, B. Extract of a letter, Aug. 20, 1773, on an improved sea-compass.

3. Franklin, B. Conjectures concerning the formation of the earth; — A new and curious theory of light and heat; — Description of the process to be observed in making large sheets of paper in the Chinese manner, with one smooth surface; — Queries relative to magnetism, and the theory of the earth. — Patterson, R. Explanation of a singular phenomenon, first observed by Dr. Franklin, and not hitherto satisfactorily accounted for. — M'Cauflin, R. Account of an earthly substance found near the Falls of Niagara, and vulgarly called the spray of the Falls. — Barton, W. Observations on the probabilities of the duration of human life, and the progress of population in the U. S. — Ellicott, A. Letter, containing observations made at Lake Erie, on that singular phenomenon, by seamen termed looming. — Rush, B. Account of the sugar maple-tree of the U. S., and of the methods of obtaining sugar from it, etc. — Williams, J. Memoir on the use of the thermometer in discovering banks, soundings, etc. — Barton, B. S. Account of the most effectual means of preventing the deleterious consequences of the bite of the crotalus horridus, or rattlesnake. — Williams, S. Magnetic observations, made at the Univ. of Camb., 1785. — Ellicott, A. Accurate determination of the right ascension and declination of β Bootes, and the pole star. — Rittenhouse, D., and Jones, J. Account of several houses in Phila., struck with lightning, June 7, 1789. — Rittenhouse, D., and Hopkinson, F. Account of the effects of a stroke of lightning on a house furnished with two conductors. — Wistar, C. Experiments and observations on evaporation in cold air. — Patterson, R. New notation of music. — Waring, W. Obs. on the theory of water mills; — Power of Dr. Barker's mill, as improved by J. Rumsey, etc. — Rittenhouse, D. Astronomical obs.; — Letter, relative to a method of finding the sum of the several powers of the sines, etc. — Muhlenberg, H. Index Floræ Lancastriensis. — Billings, W. Thermometrical journal of the temperature of the atmosphere and sea, on a voyage to and from Oporto. — Beauvois, M. de. 1st memoir of observations on the plants denominated cryptogamick. — Heart, J. Letter, containing observations on the ancient works of art, the native inhabitants, etc., of the western country. — Martin, H. Account of some of the principal dies employed by the North American Indians. — Greenway, J. Account of the beneficial effects of the cassia chamæcrista in recruiting worn-out lands, and in enriching such as are naturally poor; with a botanical description of the plant; — Account of a poisonous plant, growing spontaneously in the southern part of Virginia. — D., T. Account of a hill, on the borders of North Carolina, supposed to have been a volcano. — Hopkinson, F. Description of a machine for measuring a ship's way. — Barton, B. S. Inquiry into the question, whether the apis mellifica, or true honey-bee, is a native of America. — Rittenhouse, D. Account of a comet. — Thornton, W. Cadmus; a treatise on the elements of written language, illustrating, by a philosophical division of speech, the power of each character, thereby mutually fixing the orthography and orthoepy; with an essay on the mode of teaching the deaf and dumb to speak. — Patterson, R. An improvement on metalic conductors or lightning rods. — Robinson, E. An easy and expeditious method of dissipating the noxious vapour commonly found in wells, etc. — Higgins, J. A method of draining ponds in level grounds. — Wilson, M. Observations on the severity of the winter, 1779–80. — Cooke, J. Description of a new standard for weights and measures. — Hopkinson, F. Description of a spring-block, designed to assist a vessel in sailing. — Barton, B. S. A botanical description of the podophyllum diphyllum of Linnæus. — LeRoy, —. Observations on the construction of hospitals.

4. Priestley, J. Experiments and observations relating to the analysis of atmospheric air; — Farther experiments relating to the generation of air from water. — Rittenhouse, D. To determine the true place of a planet, in an elliptical orbit, directly from the mean anomaly, by converging series; — Improvement of time-keepers; — Expansion of wood by heat. — Ellicott, A. Letter to R. Patterson; — Aberration of the stars, nutation of the earth's axis, and semi-annual equation; — Letter; method of calculating the eccentric anomaly of the planets. — Rittenhouse, D. Method of raising the common logarithm of any number immediately. — Wistar, C. Experiments on evaporation. — Barton, B. S. Memoir concerning the fascinating faculty which has been ascribed to the rattlesnake, and other Amer. serpents; — Some account of an American species of dipus, or jerboa. — Heckewelder, J. Letter giving some account of the remarkable instinct of a bird called the nine-killer. — Currie, W. Enquiry into the causes of the insalubrity of flat and marshy situations, and directions for preventing or correcting the effects thereof. — Collin, N. Description of a machine for saving persons from the upper stories of a house on fire; with a drawing from the model. — Anderson, J. Disquisition on wool-bearing animals; — Later communication, with a sample taken from the fleece of a sheep brought from Jamaica to England. — Patterson, R. Easy and accurate method of adjusting the glasses of Hadley's quadrant on land for the back observation. — Essay tending to improve intelligible signals, and to discover an universal language; tr. from the French. — Beauvois, —. Memoir on the subject of a new plant, growing in Pennsylvania, particularly in the vicinity of Philadelphia. — Sargent, W. Letter to B. S. Barton, accompanying drawings, and some account of certain articles, which were taken out of an ancient tumulus, or grave, in the western country; — Drawing of some utensils, or ornaments, taken from an old Indian grave, at Cincinnati, Ohio, 1794. — Barton, B. S. Observations and conjectures concerning certain articles which were taken out of an ancient tumulus, or grave, at Cincinnati, Ohio; in a letter to J. Priestly. — Barometrical measurement of the Blue-Ridge, Warm-Spring, and Alleghany mountains, in Virginia, taken in the summer of 1791. — Ellicott, A. Miscellaneous observations relative to the western parts of Pennsylvania, particularly those in the neighborhood of Lake Erie; — Observations made on the Old French Landing at Presqu'Isle, to determine the latitude of the town of Erie; in a letter to R. Patterson. — Barton, B. S. Hints relative to the stimulant effects of camphor upon vegetables. — Muhlenberg, H. Supplementum indicis Floræ Lancastriensis. — Wright, T. On the mode most practicable of drying up the marshes of the maritime parts of North America. — Jefferson, T. Memoir on the discovery of certain bones of a quadruped of the clawed kind in the western parts of Virginia. — Heckewelder, J. Letter containing an account of the big naked bear. — Seybert, A. Experiments and observations on land and sea air. — Beauvois, —. Translation of a memoir on a new species of siren. — Rush, B. Observations intended to favour a supposition that the black color, as it is called, of the negroes is derived from the leprosy. — King, N. Improvement in boats for river navigation. — Bushnell, D. General principles and construction of a sub-marine vessel. — Description of a mould-board of the least resistance, and of the easiest and most certain construction. — Madison, J. Experiments upon magnetism. — Britt, D., and Turner, G. Thermometrical observations made at Fort Washington, 1790–1791; added, for some time, the rise and fall of the Ohio. — Nancarrow, J. Calculations relating to grist and saw mills, for determining the quantity of water necessary, in order to ascertain the dimensions of a new invented steam engine, intended to give motion to water-wheels in places where there is no fall, and but a very small stream or spring. — Beauvois, —. Memoir on amphibia. — Coxe, J. R. Inquiry into the comparative effects of the opium officinarum, extracted from the papaver somniferum or white poppy of Linnæus, and from the lactuca sativa, or common cultivated lettuce. — Seybert, A. Experiments on the atmosphere of marshes. — Smith, T. P. Account of a kettle for boiling inflammable fluids. — Deveze, J. An essay on a new method of treating the effusion which collects under the skull after fractures of the head. — Latrobe, B. H. Memoir of the sand-hills of Cape Henry, Va.; with supplement. — Smith, T. P. Account of chrystallized basaltes found in Penn. — Ellicott, A. Observations for determining the latitude and longitude of the town of Natchez. — Woodhouse, J. Answer to Priestley's Considerations on the doctrine of phlogiston, and the decomposition of water'. — Collin, N. Philological view of some very ancient words in several languages. — Turner, G. Memoir on the extraneous fossils, denominated mammoth bones; to shew that they are the remains of more than one species of non-descript animal. — Collin, N. Description of a speedy elevator. — Wistar, C. Description of the bones deposited in the museum of the Society, and represented in the annexed plates.

5. Priestley, J. Experiments on the transmission of acids, and other liquors, in the form of vapour, over several substances in a hot earthen tube; — Experiments relating to the change of place in different kinds of air through several interposing substances; — To the absorption of air by water; — To the doctrine of phlogiston; — Experiments on the production of air by the freezing of water; — Experiments on air exposed to heat in metallic tubes. — Barton, B. S. Some account of the poisonous and injurious honey of North America. — Williamson, H. Ephoron leukon, usually called the white fly of Passaick River. — Turner, G. Remarks on certain articles found in an Indian tumulus at Cincinnati, and now deposited in the museum of the Society. — Latrobe, B. H. Drawing and description of the clupea tyrannus and oniscus prægustator. — Allison, B. Description of a newly invented globe time-piece; — Description of the pendant planetarium. — Strickland, W. Use of the thermometer in navigation. — Dupont de Nemours, P. S. Les végetaux, les polypes, et les insectes. — Cathrall, I. Memoir on the analysis of black vomit. — Mitchill, S. L. Observations on the soda, magnesia, and lime contained in the water of the ocean; shewing that they operate advantageously there by neutralizing acids, and among others the septic acid, and that sea-water may be rendered fit for washing clothes without the aid of soap. — Fraser, J. Description of a stopper for the openings by which the sewers of cities receive the water of their drains. — Baudry des Lozières, L. N. Memoir on animal cotton, or the insect fly-carrier. — Bull, —. Note concerning a vegetable found under ground. — Ellicott, A. Astronomical and thermometrical observations, made at the confluence of the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers; — Astronomical and thermometrical observations, made on the boundary between the United States and His Catholic Majesty. — Clay, J. Observations on the figure of the earth. — Peale, C. W. and R. Improvements in the common fire-place. — Ellis, J. Account of a method of preventing the premature decay of peach trees. — Coulter, T. Description of a method of cultivating peach trees, with a view to prevent their premature decay; confirmed by the experience of forty-five years in Delaware and western Pennsylvania.

6. Dunbar, W. Language of signs, among certain North American Indians; — Meteorological obs. for one year, ending 31st of Jan. 1800, at the forest 4 1-2 miles east of the Mississippi; — Singular phenomenon seen at Baton Rouge. — Ellicott, A. Rule for finding the equation for the change of sun's declination, when equal altitudes are used to regulate a clock; — An extraordinary flight of meteors. — Patterson, R. Improved method of projecting and measuring plane angles. — Dupont de Nemours, P. S. Théorie des vents. — Dunbar, W. Extracts of a letter relating to fossil bones found in Louisiana, and lunar rainbows observ. west of the Mississippi; — Meteorological observations at the forest 4 miles west of the Mississippi, lat. 31° 28′ N. and Long 91° 30′ W. of Greenwich, for 1800. — Duralde, M. Fossil bones, etc., found in the county of Apelousas. — Patterson, R., and Ellicott, A. Obs. made on a lunar eclipse, at the observ. in Phila., 21st of Sept. 1801. — Antes, F. Hybernation of swallows. — Ellicott, A. Astron. obs., Lancaster, Penn., to ascertain the longitude, and as a test of accuracy with which [it] may be found by lunar obs. — Watkins, J. Natural history of the northerly parts of Louisiana. — Latrobe, B. H. Two species of sphex inhabiting Virginia and Penn., and probably extending through the U. S. — Barton, B. S. A new vegetable muscipula. — Williams, J. Claying of sugar; new and economical mode. — Thomas, —. Some newly discovered islands and shoals in the Indian seas. — Latrobe, B. H. First report to the Society, in answer to the enquiry 'whether any, and what improvements have been made in the construction of steam-engines in America?' — Hare, R., Jr. Fusion of stronites and volatilization of platinum; also of a new arrangement of apparatus; — Description of a cock with two perforations, contrived to obviate the necessity of a vent-peg, in tapping air-tight casks. — Barton, B. S. New species of N. Amer. lizard. — Priestley, J. Obs. and experiments rel. to equivocal or spontaneous generation; — Obs. on the discovery of nitre in common salt, which had been frequently mixed with snow. — Madison, J. Supposed fortifications of the western country. — Barton, B. S. Supplement to the account of the dipus Americanus; — Hints on the etymology of certain Eng. words, and their affinity to words in the languages of different European, Asiatic, and American Indian, nations. — Ferrer, J. J. de. Astron. obs. for the purpose of determining the geog. position of various places in the U. S. and other parts of N. Amer. — Dunbar, W. Description of the Mississippi and its Delta, and that of the adjacent parts of Louisiana; — Abstract of meterol. obs. for 1801, 03, at the Natchez. — Proceedings of the Society on the death of J. Priestley. — Clay, J. Demonstration of a geometrical theorem. — Description of W. Mugford's temporary rudder. — Heckewelder, J. Facts and obs. rel. to the beaver of N. Amer. — Ferrer, J. J. de. Occultation of Aldebaran, by the moon, Oct. 21st, 1793; — Geog. position of sundry places in N. Amer., and the W. Indies. — Brown, S. Descript. of a cave on Crooked Creek, with rem. on nitre and gun-powder. — Conover, S. F. Essay on the vermillion colour of the blood, and the different colours of the metallic oxides, with an application of these principles to the arts. — Ellicott, A. Eclipse of the sun, June 16, 1806, at Lancaster. — Dunbar, W. Obs. of the same, at the forest near Natchez. — Ferrer, J. J. de, and Garnett, J. Obs. at Kinderhook, N. Y. — Obs. at Bowdoin College, by a member of the Soc. — Dunbar, W. Finding the longitude from the moon's meridian altitude. — Latrobe, B. H. Freestone quarries on the Potomac and Rappahannoc Rivers. — Ferrer, J. J. de. Further obs. on the eclipse of June 16, 1806, a determination of the longitude of Natchez and New Orleans; also, an investigation of the semi-diameters of the sun and moon. — De Witt, S. Obs. on the same eclipse. — Garnett, J. Description and use of a new nautical chart. — Godon, S. Observations to serve for a mineralogical map of Maryland. — Silliman, B., and Kingsley, J. L. Meteoric stones which fell in Conn., Dec. 14, 1807. — Ferrer, J. J. de. Note. This copy wants the title-page and 35 leaves; 2 leaves are mutilated and several torn. The New Testament has a title page, 'Wusku Wuttestamentum nul-lordumun Jesus Christ Nuppoquohwussuaneumun. Cambridge, 1661', the 'star' on the title page, and the headings 10 and 15 over the pages that contain respectively chaps. xxi. and xxiv. of Luke. At the end are the Psalms, taken from the Bay Psalm book, in Eliot's metrical translation, with the caption, 'Wame Ketoohomae uketoohomaongash David'. The short Indian catechism is wanting. For a full account of Eliot's Indian Bible see E. B. O'Callaghan's 'List of eds. of the Scriptures printed in America. 1861'.

— Same. Camb., Samuel Green, 1685. 4°.
Note. The title of the New Testament is the same as in the previous edition except the imprint, 'Cambridge, Printed for the Corporation in London, for the propagation [sic] of the Gospel among the Indians in New-England 1680'. Eliot's Indian version of the Psalms is appended, as in the 1st ed., and the Indian catechism.
